When it comes to commercial real estate, complex isn't just a noun. It's also an adjective.

Cooper's ability to navigate those complexities is a big reason why the Cooper Group has completed more than $1.5 billion in sales under his leadership, according to his colleague Jeff Zimon, the founder of Zimon LLC.

"I have personally had the opportunity to work with Dan in a sizable transaction," Zimon says of Cooper. "Dan's unique skill and understanding of markets and trends is matched by his ability to navigate the complexities of legal requirements, banking and more to serve his clients at the highest level."

The Cooper Group maintains a database of more than 45,000 real estate professionals, which allows the company to succeed in times of high demand and when the market is challenging, Zimon said.

"The Cooper Group's unwavering dedication and commitment to our clients keeps them at the forefront of the industry," he said.
